IS MARS INHABITED?

(With extracts from FILER'S FILES # 17 - 2007)

Over the past few years we have seen surveyor photographs of an increasing number of mysterious objects, vegetation*, strange tubes and what could be buildings on the surface of Mars. It seems pretty obvious that a life form of some kind has been living on that planet.

We now hear that 'remote viewers', who at one time were employed by the U.S. military to study events in the USSR, have extended their capabilities by travelling further afield and in fact appear to have the capability of travelling to distant planets.

The U.S. military has long used remote viewing developed by Ingo Swann as a means of spying on potential or actual enemies. Then a Dr. Brown developed the technique further and produced uncannily accurate information about verifiable targets. Now he applies these techniques in an unusual direction and speculates that the remnants of a Martian race may be struggling to survive in buried recesses on their own devastated planet.

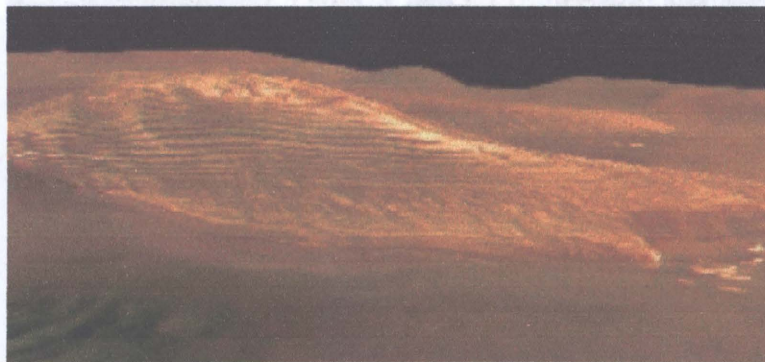

He also further explores the idea that the 'Greys' - a seemingly highly evolved humanoid race- may be seeking a new future for themselves. He also raises the possibility of yet a third previously unknown alien civilisation: a warlike race that may have its own frightening agenda for our planet.

He also takes us deeper into the secret worlds of Greys and Martians, whose ongoing crises could have a profound effect on the people of Earth.

Courtney Brown Ph.D. is Director of The Farsight Institute. A non-profit research and educational organization dedicated to the development of remote viewing as a scientific method of data collection.

UFO PHOTOGRAPHED OVER WOLLATON PARK, NOTTINGHAM 15-4-07

(A report from 'Adrian' via Yvonne at UFORM)

Hi, I don't know if I have contacted the right area for this report but here goes.....

I was at Wollaton Park (Nottingham) with my son on Sunday 15th April 2007.

As it was a hot, clear sunny day we spent most of the day there. He took his Frisbee (flying toy) and we played on the field with that.

Later on in the afternoon I decided to take some pictures with my camera phone. I took two of the lake and two of the front of Wollaton Hall and three around the back of the hall.

They all came out good as I expected-but it doesn't end there. When I got home I transferred the pics onto my PC and all seemed to look good.

I was pleased with the pictures, they all came out very crisp and clear. I have recently chosen one for wallpaper (screen background) and didn't notice anything weird at first.

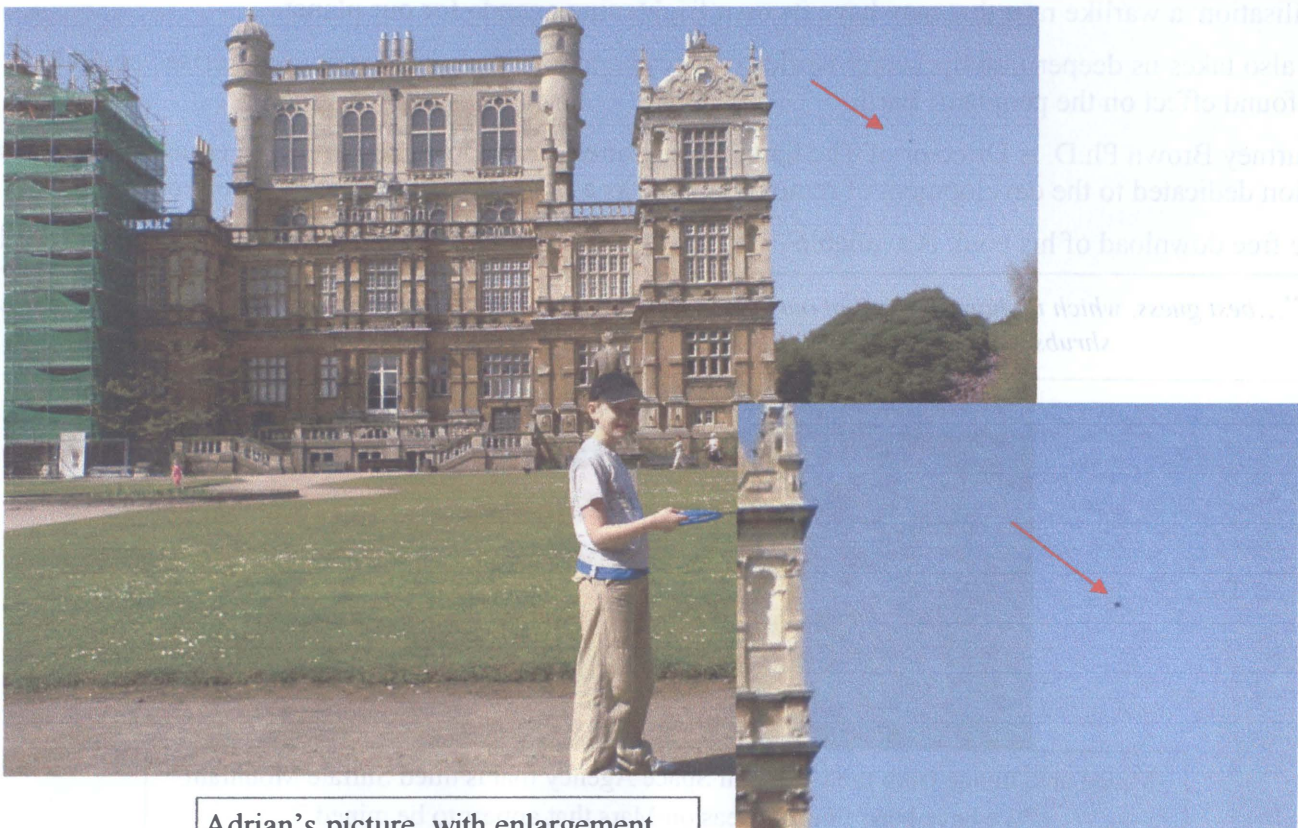

Until now... Above the trees in the sky to the right of the Hall there is something there that I didn't notice before. It is sort of round/oval shaped and like a grey/silver colour.

When zooming in on it you notice a white glow on its underneath. What is also strange is that I took two other pictures minutes apart and basically the same background, only more to the left and there is nothing there at all. Only on this picture.

What is striking is that it was a clear sunny day, pure blue sky with no clouds - so whatever it is, is clearly visible in the sky.

It isn't a plane or balloon or any other object that I can think of.

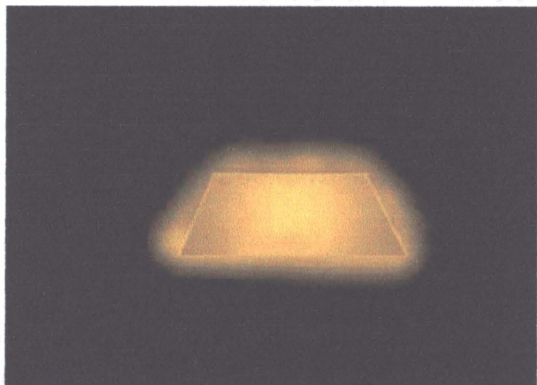

Adrian.

Two women's sighting

Two hunters sighting

Rectangle, rectangular prism, trapezium. No – not a geometry lesson, but a list of shapes of unidentified objects seen in New Zealand skies over recent weeks.

On 8 March at around 10.30 pm two hunters were out looking for feral deer with a spotlight, in a rugged area of the central North Island volcanic plateau very close to active Mount Ruapehu. They decided to travel up the railway line on their way home to National Park Village, and drove through an area of about 80 hectares of land where the scrub had been burnt down to the dirt. As the pair crossed the main trunk line in their vehicle, witness 2 commented, "We've got company!" Looking back down the burnt area around 80 metres away, they saw a strange display of lights roughly at or near ground level: four very bright red/orange lights evenly spaced, and a larger single yellowish light above. The lights illuminated what appeared to be an odd trapezium shaped object. A quick conversation passed back and forth between the two friends. Witness 2 thought it must be a vehicle, but his friend disagreed and commented that most people wouldn't even consider entering that rugged area in a vehicle, especially at night. They thought it could be a fire in front of an object, or a large tent with lights inside it – although extremely unlikely in this area.

To end the quick debate, witness 1 (the reporting observer) jumped out of the now stationary vehicle to shine the spotlight on this unknown object (the spotlight unplugged as he exited the vehicle). Much to their surprise and amazement the object, described as 'bigger than a bus', immediately rose up and took off, making an extremely swift and completely silent exit in a southerly direction at very low altitude. They observed the lights just suddenly vanish, as if they had been switched off.

The next day the men returned to the location and conducted a ground search for any marks or indentations where they had seen the stationary object. Finding nothing out of the ordinary, they figured that the object had likely been hovering just above ground level. They realized that it had been concealed in a little dip in the land, obscured from view from nearby National Park Village houses. Just 100m south-west of where the object was seen is a railway power substation, and National Park Village is situated about 500m north of the area.

When interviewed, witness 1 noted that as they approached the railway line, they should have been able to see the object or the glow from the lights, as it would have been roughly in front of them. However it wasn't until they turned their vehicle that his friend suddenly noticed the lights, which may have been switched on briefly before take-off. He stated, "I keep going over and over what we saw, but can't make any sense of it. My friend thought people would think we were mad if we reported it! I don't know if it is connected, but I have had a dry throat since. This is the second time in my life I have seen something unexplainable".

The witness described having seen an orange glowing cigar-shaped object with his brother in 1977 when he was eight years old (this coincides with a UFO 'flap' that was going on in NZ at the time).

On March 11 a witness sighted a rectangular shaped object in the sky near Rotorua, central North Island. Not only did the object appear rectangular at first glance, but the actual shape reported was that of a rectangular 'box'. Strange - you may think? Impossible aerodynamics? In fact box-shaped craft are regularly seen and reported all over the world. I saw one myself in 1991, hovering over the Pyes Pa Highway forestry between Rotorua and Tauranga, Nth Island. I couldn't believe my eyes either, but I eventually found reference to these unusual shaped objects and an identical sketch in a book called 'Beyond My Wildest Dreams', by American abductee Kim Carlsberg. According to Dominic Mac - Namara of the Australian Disclosure Project, UFO report files released to their group contained a number of reported sightings of these aerial rectangular box-shaped objects, from both military and civilian sources.

Five days later on March 16, at around 11 pm, two witnesses had another unusual sighting lasting around five minutes. It occurred near a rural subdivision on the outskirts of Tauranga city, when a witness was accompanying a friend to her car in the driveway. They looked up to see a large (bus sized or larger) amber/orange glowing object moving slowly eastward above treetops beyond the subdivision. As the object moved closer, the shape appeared to be rectangular; as the object moved higher, the sides appeared to be sloped at an angle like a trapezium. At one stage it tilted briefly and appeared to have an oval shape on the top. It was lost from view in cloud over the sea.

The two women were shocked by what they had seen. Witness 1 considered it was a UFO, as the object moved soundlessly and did not have wings or resemble any known aircraft. Witness 2, did not believe in the existence of UFOs and insisted it was a satellite or meteorite. However, when the two women later discussed the sighting, she conceded that the object could not be explained as either of the latter objects, as it was large, close, and did not have any of the flight characteristics of a satellite or meteorite. She hoped that Air Traffic Control would confirm that it had been an aircraft, however ATC stated that there were no aircraft over this area at the time of the sighting.

The similarity between the three objects sighted in March is striking, particularly the March 8 and 16 sightings, both of which appeared to be trapezium shaped with glowing amber/orange lights. The witnesses to the March 11 and March 16 sightings both commented that the object appeared to look slightly different in shape as it turned and tilted. The hunters in the March 8 sighting noted a large yellow light on top of the object, which could account for the description given by the two ladies of an oval shape on top of the object they sighted. It is possible that all sightings were actually of the same object, allowing for variations in movement of the object and angle of observation. As the case with some New Zealand UFO sightings, these objects were sighted around the time of considerable seismic and volcanic activity, particularly in the central North Is:

1. 15 Feb: White Is; lake temp. reaches highest ever recorded; lake level drops 6m
2. 21 Feb: Auckland rocked by 3 Hauraki Gulf earthquakes, 4.5 Richter scale max.
3. Feb - March: earthquakes throughout central Nth Is
4. 17 Mar: Mt Ruapehu crater lake swells; lahar warning issued
5. 18 Mar: Lahar occurs and flows over unstable crater lake lip
6. 19-20 Mar: Swarm of over 100 earthquakes following lahar
7. 21 Mar: Neighbouring Mt Ngauruhoe shakes into life after 30 years of deep sleep
8. Early April onwards: numerous earthquake swarms near Matata, & central Nth Is.

Similarly, on June 13, 2005, the crew and skippers of two charter boats traveling off Whakatane, Nth Is., observed a large glowing red object, that briefly followed one of the boats, and moved up and down the coastline before hovering over the Matata hills for several hours. There had been numerous swarms of earthquakes occurring very shallow beneath Matata in the preceding weeks, and at the time of the sighting (see our website 'Sightings' page). It would appear that New Zealand's seismologists and volcanologists may not be the only scientists monitoring our geothermal and seismic activity.

Latest UFO Sighting Reports from Billy Booth

There has been a lot of activity in our skies lately, and here are some of the highlights of recent events.

Alabama-04-10-Witness was outside watching the sky when he saw two objects approaching from the South. They flew side by side at first. The objects were unbelievable fast, moving at 90 degree angles, and from horizon to horizon in seven seconds.

Montana-04-06-Woman and daughter were driving home in the Bears Paw mountains, when the daughter saw an unusual light. The object gave off a fire-like light. They stopped to watch the object. The UFO then split into two, both moving in different directions. The two then rejoined as one. The vehicle headlights and dashboard lights went out. The experience scared both witnesses. After the objects were gone, the vehicle electrical system returned to normal.

New York-04-03-A man and his wife were driving west on I-90 heading to Buffalo in separate cars. They spotted two UFOs in a small, luminescent cloud. The man saw a glowing, orange-silver object drop from cloud, and make a reverse J-shaped move back into the cloud. The man cell phoned his wife in the trailing car, but she had already seen the action in the sky. The man is an airplane buff, and states that the objects were definitely not planes.

Virginia-04-12-Man's girlfriend called him to take a look at something. It was a light in the sky that looked like a star, but it was green, red, and white. The object simply sat in the sky with very little movement. The object appeared to be shaped like a shield. This report was made in real time.

Toronto, Canada-Stationary Green Light-April-2007-Recently a very good friend of mine told me about his experience recently with a UFO. It was raining heavily and out of his hotel window he observed a very green light. The light remained there, completely stationary but then in a flash, the light disappeared and was replaced by a similar light, only this one was red. It seemed to be a little higher than the green one was. Then, it disappeared only to be replaced by another light, only this one was yellow. My friend spent some ten or twenty minutes looking at these changing lights. At this point, he wished he had brought his camera, which he always carries, but it was in a repair shop due to shutter problems. However, he remembered that his binoculars were in his suitcase, which he quickly retrieved and set focus on the lights.

Through the rain, it was very difficult to get a clear picture but at least the magnification of the glasses, and the fact that the lights were at a very low altitude allowed his view to be somewhat more advantageous in discerning what the object might be. He still is uncertain but the best description he gives is that the overall appearance of the assembled changing lights looked just like a traffic light. This happened right downtown in Toronto, very close to ground level, just above all the traffic on a very rainy April night. Too bad he didn't have his camera.

London, England-In 1968 I was fourteen years old. I was standing on the balcony of my flat (In London, England) with my mother looking at the night sky. A bright light approximately the size of Jupiter (when seen in the sky) appeared in the sky and was moving silently but very fast across the sky. We watched it and then it entered a thick cloud which was more or less overhead. It then came out the side of the cloud. It just changed direction (without turning, a 90 degree angle) in a split second and travelled back the way it had come from. It seemed that it was meant to do this in the cloud but didn't quite make it on time. I was astounded because I did not think a plane or jet could do such a manoeuvre (changing direction like it did) and looking back. It was 1968 after all. I am sometimes sceptical about UFOs today because of today's technology but this event happened almost 40 years ago. My mother was as baffled as I was as to what the object was.

London, England-In 1993 when my daughter was thirteen I sent her to the shop. We lived in Leyton, London at the time. She saw a huge disc shaped object hovering above the nearby infants school. It was white and looked like it was hot metal and wobbling almost like liquid metal.

She said it was like looking at it through steam and its shape seemed to change. A schoolboy reported seeing something similar in Walthamstow (he drew a picture of the craft) which is near Leyton and told the local newspaper who printed the article. I look forward to hearing your comments. Rose T.

Tasmania-I too have reported two separate cigar-shaped UFO sightings over northern Tasmania. These were only days apart, roughly the same area and amidst what I think was a UFO flap in our area which lasted weeks. Sightings were reported to TUFOIC.

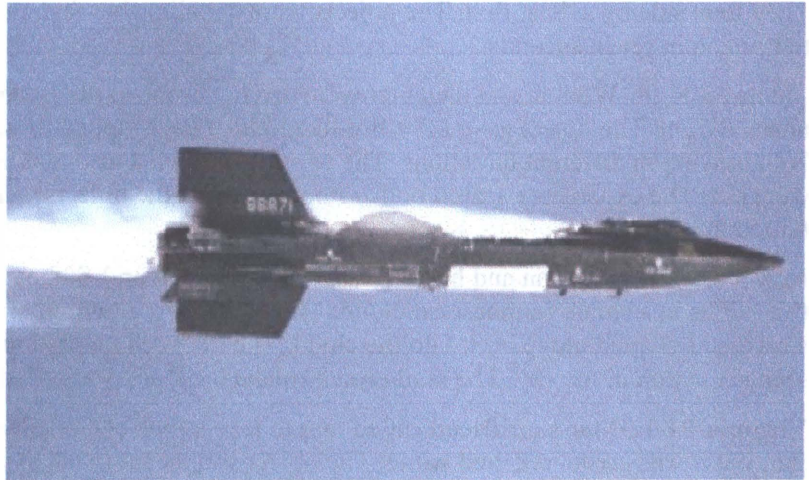

Well... that's a lot to take in for now, but be here next week when we unveil some more UFO reports, and until then, keep your eyes on the skies.

X-15 jet Pilots saw UFOs in 1960s

(From Filers Files #13)

On July 17, 1962, Major Robert White reported a UFO during his fifty-eight-mile high flight of an X-15 jet aircraft, that technically made him an astronaut.. Major White reported: "I have no idea what it could be. It was grayish in color and about thirty to forty feet away." Then according to a Time Magazine article, Major White exclaimed over the radio: "There ARE things out there! There absolutely is!" "I don't feel like speculating about them. All I know is what appeared on the film which was developed after the flight!" - Editor's Note: To date none of those films has been : released to the public for viewing.

British Pilot, Passengers Say They Saw UFOs

Galactic Visitor, Or Greenhouse Reflection?

The BBC says a commercial airline pilot reported seeing two unidentified flying objects in the sky near Guernsey.

The pilot reportedly estimated the bright yellow flat discs were twice the size of a Boeing 737, and spotted them Monday, 12 to 15 miles north east of the island.

"This is not something you see every day of the week -- it was pretty scary," pilot Ray Bowyer said, adding he originally thought the sun was reflecting off greenhouses in Guernsey.

UFO REPORT 23/4/07

John Spencer, deputy chairman of the British UFO Research Association, says pilot UFO sightings have been reported since the 1940s, and generate excitement because pilots are trained observers. In Monday's case, the sightings were verified by passengers and other pilots in the area.

Of course, many UFO sightings are later dismissed as misidentified aircraft, weather balloons, or unknown natural phenomena. Britain's Ministry of Defense says it will not be carrying out an investigation in this particular case.

Spencer tells the BBC you can't just dismiss them all.

"Such light effects are often popularly thought to represent alien visitors but many UFO researchers believe they more likely represent ^{HOT} natural, atmospheric, phenomena not yet ^{UPDATE} understood by science," he said.

"However, a similar encounter ^{Weird} 1978 over the Bass Straits in Australia, where the pilot was in radio ^{NEW} contact with the ground throughout, resulted in the pilot never being ^{Urgent} from again, so these phenomena are important to study."

CURE OR CREDIBILITY?

By Bill Foster (USA)

Pulitzer Prize winner, Dr. John Mack during his twenty years of research into the subject of alien abduction, was probably the finest, most thorough, open-minded researcher in the field of ufology. At least that is my humble opinion.

Dr. Mack met an unfortunate and untimely death in London, England, at the age of 73, at the hands of a drunk driver. I had the true pleasure of meeting with Dr. Mack, in Cambridge, Massachusetts on the Harvard Campus, for over two hours, regarding my own personal abduction experiences which I chronicled in my book: "The Black Triangle Abduction".

This short story is how John Mack came to be funded by Harvard University. He gained a position of tenure, prominence and even fame, in a most unique and unorthodox field of study, by the standards of any university.

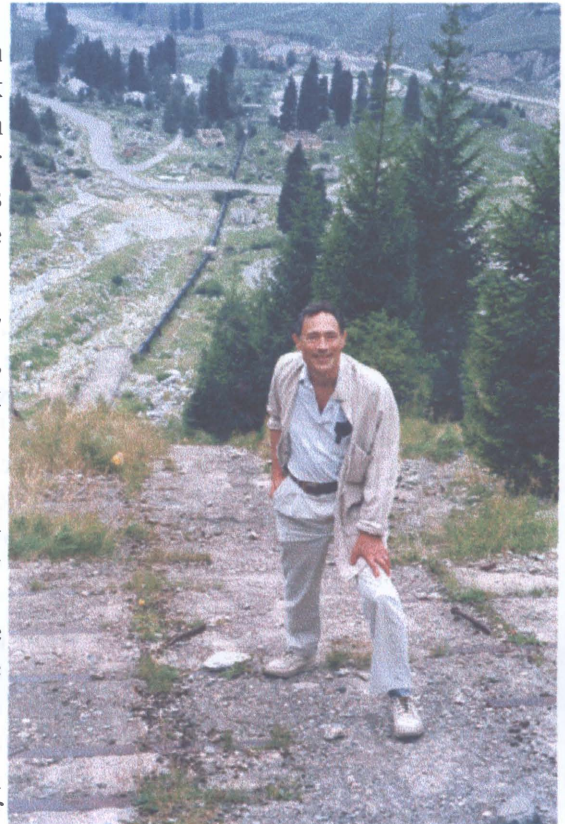

Our meeting with John Mack took place in his offices. We were expecting to find an office worthy of a tenured senior fellow. Instead, we walked up the creaking, paint-peeled steps, of a broken-down, shabby old three-story home. (There is a big difference between an historic antique home and one that is just old and decaying.) The furnishings were drab, to say the least. The parlor into which we were shown and seated was decorated with unmatched chairs, couches and stools. A collection easily acquired from the Salvation Army store if you simply walked in, pointed and took one of everything!

Dr. Mack and his associate could see that we were in wonder of the surroundings. He hastily explained that his funding for "alien research" was at the barest of minimums. It seemed that Harvard had pushed him out to the further edge of the academic galaxy. It was then that we quickly heard the basics of the story of why he was the "black sheep" of Harvard.

It seems that when Dr. Mack chose the subject of alien abduction to research it was simply assumed that he was looking for a "cure" for this dreaded disease, which afflicts so many millions of people, worldwide. After five years of interviews, in-depth exploration and investigation into the subject matter the university had a formal conference and presentation of his findings.

Imagine the shock and horror on the faces of the assembled academia, when Dr. John Mack announced to them, (and to the press as well), that not only did he believe his patients stories of their abductions and experiences, he further believed in the alien experience! The entire purpose of this meeting had been the expectation that Dr. Mack had discovered the "cure" for this "fantasy disease. Instead, Dr. Mack had joined forces with the perceived enemy. By this time in Dr. Mack's career he had obtained tenure with Harvard and his termination was next to impossible. The only thing left to do was to pasture Dr. Mack out in shabby quarters hoping the shameful surroundings would force him to resign. He did not. He went forward in 1993 to establish the: "Program for Extraordinary Experience Research", (P.E.E.R.), which is still in existence today.

The moral to this story is that in a world, which honors conformity, there are few scientific men or women who will step outside the comfort box and dare to investigate this complex subject with a truly open mind. God bless John Mack.

AMAZING 'FT' SIGHTING OVER MANSFIELD, NOTTS. 20-3-07By PRA Member Neil Cairns

Dear Omar

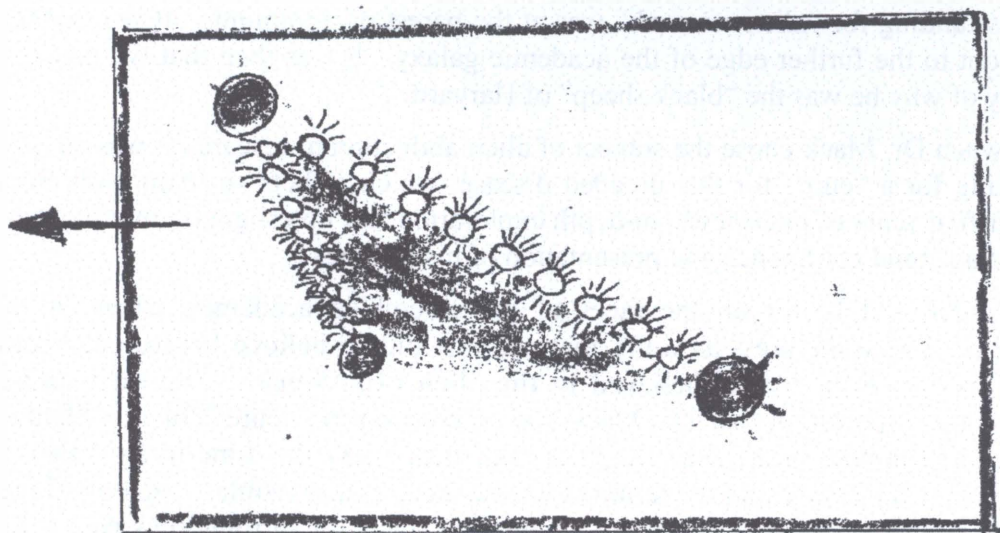

On Tuesday the 20th of March, I'd decided to go out side to have a cigarette, When I spotted a large intense light at some distance, glowing brilliant amber. I asked my son to fetch me a pair of binoculars from my up stairs bedroom. As I focused in on the object, I was surprised to see it was triangular in shape , it had a single red light on each corner with loads of white lights running down the two front edges, looking not to unlike a lit up Christmas tree!

The triangle moved slowly from the East towards the North disappearing eventually out of sight from my optical horizon, as the trees and houses obscured the view.

I asked my son to do a drawing of what he'd seen in 2005 , guess what It was exactly the same!

Yours truly

Neil

Neil's drawing shows a typical 'Flying Triangle' configuration and confirms that this area is still a centre of UFO activity, being in the same location as Daryl Spence's famous FT video taken on the 23rd August 1994 and subsequently shown worldwide.

PRA MEETING HAS A SURPRISE VISITOR

FLYING TRIANGLE OVER DERBYSHIRE, JUNE 1999

We feel that our presentation of Miss Melanie Cunningham's photo of the big Flying Triangle seen by her over Derbyshire, and reported by our Director/Consultant Omar Fowler in FSR 44/4 (front cover and page 3) was not entirely satisfactory, so we are running it again here. As readers will see, the relative position of the Moon in the picture is now made clear. -G.C.

Melanie Cunningham previously lived in Belper, Derbyshire where she was a keen sky watcher.

Melanie reported numerous sightings and was ultimately given an 8mm movie camera by the PRA to film any unusual phenomenon.

One night Melanie succeeded in filming a short clip of a 'Flying Triangle' passing overhead.

The PRA arranged for a technical photo-lab to produce a colour print from one frame. This was printed in the 'Flying Saucer Review' magazine (see left).

Meleanie's latest report is on page 10.

AN ENGLISH CONTACTEE ENCOUNTER IN THE 1950's !

By Melanie Cunningham

As you know, I am now living on the Isle of Scalpay and the weather is grey, wet and chilly. I often travel by bus locally and there is plenty of time to chat to fellow passengers on the bus journey from Harris to Stornoway. Quite often there is talking and gossiping on the bus, it seems to be part of the Hebridean culture.

Quite recently an experience was related to me by a Scalpay man, Mr Roddy Macleod, he is about 70 years old and a fisherman, well used to observing his local environment. He related to me an event that had taken place in England during the 1950's.

He knew of a couple that had been driving their in their car along a country road somewhere in England in the winter of the 1950's and the time was approx. 9pm.

Suddenly, they were both astonished to see several "small men" dressed in green, crossing the road. The couple described the small men, "They looked like dwarfs" they said. The couple also noticed that "tubes of some kind protruded from their heads."

The couple quickly swerved to avoid the strange figures around them. (The car then appeared to have stopped as...) these little figures were then seen to enter a saucer shaped craft, mounted on three legs standing at the side of a field.

The couple watched in shock, as the craft ascended with flames shooting out of the bottom as it rapidly vanished into the night sky.

I couldn't get any more details from Mr Macleod, apart from the fact that the couple must have reported this experience, as an account of appeared in a newspaper.

Whether the couple had any 'missing time' I don't know, as 'Roddy' had no other knowledge of the event other than the couple rapidly accelerated away from the scene as quickly as possible.

Incidentally, there is nocturnal activity here (Isle of Scalpay) after all as 'Roddy' mentioned being in his garden and observing an object hovering nearby and projecting beams of light down to the ground. He told me it wasn't a plane or helicopter....I think I will have to spend more time outdoors in the evening!

Editors Note:

I may have come across the same story a few years ago in 1996, while speaking at the 15th Leeds International UFO Conference (run by the late Graham Birdsall).

An elderly man approached me during the interval and related his experience, when he and his wife had been driving late at night in the Cumbria area of North East England.

They had been driving along a lonely country area, when suddenly the car headlights picked out small figures with dome shaped heads quickly crossing the road in front of them, then they were gone!

The driver turned to his wife and said "Did you see what I saw?" She said "Yes" and with that reply, he banged his foot on the accelerator on sped away as fast as they could go!

The witness made no mention of seeing a saucer craft nearby and the two stories may have been separate events. However the proximity of the Cumbria area to the Scottish border could well explain the newspaper article being widely reported in that part of the UK.

'DAVENTRY CALLING'

A report by PRA member Helen J. Lewis

1 of 2

Accounts of recent sightings and incidences.

November 5th 2006 – time 4-20pm Clouds + UFO

Witnessed in Daventry – Braunston – Northampton.

This sighting was when I was walking my dog a short distance from my home in Daventry. There was a spectacular sunset with colours of every shade, standing taking in this scene When I noticed two groups of unusual clouds, although I knew this type were called 'Lenticular' they seemed different as I had never seen them in clusters before. As I studied them at length I noticed that in the middle of the larger group there was a Small UFO, it was greyish in colour with portholes being of the oval kind. These clouds Gave the appearance of protecting it, close by were another group of 'lenticular' shape Clouds but no others throughout the sky.

The next day meeting my friend from the village of Braunston (3miles) she ask if I had Seen the beautiful sunset, mentioned the strange groups of cloud and stated she: felt there Was a UFO although never having experienced anything before.

Later that week I heard there were reports; people in the Northampton area had seen The unusual clouds and the UFO. Apparently it was mentioned in the paper and on A local radio programmes, although I did not check this out.

November 19th 2006 – Time 5-30pm Unusual Incident. Conditions still and clear.

Dog walking; stopped to talk to a lady and her son (9yrs) being close to the area of the Recent UFO incident, ask them if they had noticed anything unusual at that time. Teasing The boy about seeing a U.F.O

During our conversation an object suddenly came floating swiftly towards us, at first The boy and I thought it to be a small balloon, although it seem to glow, but assumed it must have broken free from a nearby garden. However as it went over our heads, the boy and I swung round as we could see it looked more like some strange Chinese lantern, which illuminated, both wondered what it was. Expecting to study this object more fully as it drifted away, it could not be seen even though we were in a well lighted area.

December 2nd 2006 - time 5-20pm - Unusual light.

Dog walking when a very bright white light shot across my vision, although it appeared to be a shooting star, it stopped for a few seconds then blinked out. Although I see these quite often it was nice to hear another witnessed a similar thing.

The next day I heard that something similar was seen which coincided to the time I saw. A friends; workmate was travelling in another area of Daventry but he saw a bright light which was stationary, then sped across the sky at high speed.

Report by Helen – 'Daventry Calling'.

2 of 2

Account of possible U.F.O – two witnesses.
19th March 2007 – Time 7-05pm. Weather still and clear.
Sighting – Daventry Northants.

Standing across the road from my home on 'Hillside' Borough hill Daventry, waiting for my friend to pick me up as we were going to a line-dancing party. She; living a short distance away on the opposite estate. When I was attracted to what appeared to be a large ball of fire coming in my Direction this from the North, at first I thought it was a plane on fire and about To crash, as it was low in the sky, red/orange in colour. While wondering what to do thinking of the debris as it came down which would have been nearby. As it approached nearer I could see that it was a large red light, this had a haze around it which made it look larger than it was, and could easily be mistaken for a ball of fire from a distance. Travelling at normal planes speed, it went straight in front of me going over the back of my home, it was then blocked from my vision by the neighbours house which was much larger and stood forward to my own.

There had been no noise as it approached, and continued on a straight line heading East. As it went in front of me distance about 50yds, height about that of a 'Helicopter' I could see it clearly to be a bright red light at the front and a solid dark metal cone shape, attached to the back. This to judge roughly was the size of a 'dustbin' straining to hear there was a very slight drone noise? Having a strong feel that it was something controlled.

As it went from view behind my neighbours; house I ran a short distance up the road to the gap between other houses behind ours, to see if it was still there and caught a glimpse. It was then my friend arrived as I got in her car she said 'you must have seen that strange light, it was heading straight in your direction. Acknowledged I had, she was to say how frightened, yet excited she felt then went on to describe her definition of what she had seen, which did coincide with what I had seen. While 'Mary was relating what she had seen, I told her to put her foot down, ignore the speed sign, as it was possible we may see it when we got to the top of the hill, although good vision we did not see any sign of it. This all happened in a matter of 7minutes.

Astronomers find Earth-like planet

Swiss and European astronomers say they have discovered the first planet outside our solar system able to support life. But anyone thinking of a change of scene had better not hold their breath: the new "super-Earth" lies 20.5 light years or 120 trillion miles away.

The planet, whose mass is five times that of the Earth's – hence the "super" tag – was discovered by a team of European astronomers led by researchers from Geneva University.

Its radius is 1.5 times that of the Earth and its gravity is twice that of our planet. Scientists estimate that its average temperature is between zero and 40 degrees Celsius, creating the possibility that water exists on the planet.

"We have all the ingredients for the development of life," Stéphane Udry, an astronomer at the Geneva Observatory, told swissinfo.

"We have something that is solid or with water, that is about the same size as the Earth, the gravity is not too bad and it is just at the right distance from its star for the temperature to be around 20 degrees, so water could exist in liquid form."

Outer space

The planet was discovered using the Swiss-designed High Accuracy Radial Velocity for Planetary Searcher (Harps) spectrograph telescope, based at the European Southern Observatory at La Silla, Chile. Its star, which is one-fiftieth as luminous as our Sun, is among the 100 closest to our solar system – and in the words of Udry, "very near to us".

That might be true in the context of the universe but in reality it is a long, long way away. The chances of dispatching the equivalent of Nasa's Mars Rover mission to find out more are as remote as the new planet.

"It's just not possible because you would need centuries or even thousands of years to get there," said Udry.

TALE ENDERS

FUTURE SPACE TELESCOPES COULD DETECT EARTH TWIN

For the first time ever, NASA researchers have successfully demonstrated in the laboratory that a space telescope rigged with special masks and mirrors could snap a photo of an Earth-like planet orbiting a nearby star. This accomplishment marks a dramatic step forward for missions like the proposed Terrestrial Planet Finder, designed to hunt for an Earth twin that might harbour life.

SAUDI ARABIA 30-3-07 The witness is a government employee of the country of Kuwait. He was travelling alone in his vehicle at about 11:50 PM, when he spotted a triangular-shaped object in the sky. There were a few other vehicles on the road that night. The object was as large as a jumbo jet, and moving very slowly. It had a white light at each corner, and a blinking light in the centre. The witness did not make an official report fearing ridicule.

Solar Storm Warning: You Have One Year to Prepare

The federal government now predicts a new cycle of solar storms will begin to intensify by spring 2008. Actually, it already began on July 1st 2007. but by spring 08' we will start to see larger and possibility of dangerous consequences. The new set of storms are expected to peak around the end of 2011 and beginning of 2012. That's the conclusion of some scientists at NASA and NOAA. The next solar cycle, while about average, will be strong enough to disrupt airplanes, cell phones, power grids and geo-positioning satellites off and on during the next 11 years, scientists said Wednesday.

UFO & ANTI-GRAVITY DISCLOSURE

UFO Researcher David Sereda discussed his recent work, videotaping the disclosure of 73-year old Boyd Bushman, a Lockheed Martin Senior Research Scientist of 20 years, who held Top Secret clearance. He holds a number of patents and designed the Red Eye Missile (now the Stinger Missile), and infrared FLIR systems. Bushman also reverse engineered antigravity and UFO technology, Sereda reported.

There is a force related to the expansion of the universe that is actually stronger than gravity, and this could be connected to antigravity propulsion, Bushman told him. He demonstrated phases that lead up to antigravity, including experiments in which magnets reduced the gravity of a rock. Bushman verified that Area 51 in Nevada was indeed the place where alien craft were tested-- but such testing moved to a facility in Utah after Area 51 became well known, he noted.
